24 IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
25 FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

26 COURTNEY DENNIS, on behalf of 27 herself and all others similarly situated,

28 Plaintiff,

vs.

RALPH LAUREN CORPORATION, a
Delaware corporation, RALPH LAUREN
RETAIL, INC., a Delaware corporation, and DOES 1- 20, inclusive,

Defendants.

Case No. 3:16-cv-01056-WGH-BGS

FIRST AMENDED CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT

1. Violation of California's Unfair Competition Laws ("UCL"); California Business & Professions Code Sections 17200, *et seq.
2. Violation of California's False Advertising Laws ("FAL"); California Business & Professions Code Sections 17500, *et seq.
3. Violations of California Consumer Legal Remedies Act ("CLRA"); Civ. Code § 1750, *et seq.
4. Violations of the Consumer Protection Laws on Behalf of Classes in States with Similar Laws

[DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL]

1 Plaintiff COURTNEY DENNIS brings this action on behalf of herself and all others
2 similarly situated against Defendant RALPH LAUREN CORPORATION and Defendant
3 RALPH LAUREN RETAIL, INC. (collectively “Defendants”), and states:

4 I. NATURE OF ACTION

5 1. This is a class action regarding Defendants’ false and misleading 6 advertisement of “market” prices, and corresponding phantom “savings,” on clothing and 7 fashion apparel sold in its retail outlet stores. During the Class Period (defined below), 8 Defendants advertised false price discounts for merchandise sold throughout their retail 9 outlet stores.

10 2. During the Class Period, Defendants continually misled consumers by 11 advertising clothing and fashion apparel at discounted, “savings” prices. Defendants would 12 compare the “sale” prices to false “market” prices, which were misrepresented as the 13 “market” retail prices from which the “savings” was discounted. The advertised discounts 14 were nothing more than mere phantom markdowns because the represented market prices 15 were artificially inflated and were not the original or “market” prices for clothing and 16 fashion apparel sold at Defendants’ retail outlet stores. In addition, the represented 17 “market” prices were not the prevailing marketing retail prices within three months next 18 immediately preceding the publication of the advertised former prices, as required by 19 California law.

20 3. Defendants convey their deceptive pricing scheme to consumers through 21 promotional materials, in-store displays, and print advertisements. For example, in 22 Defendants’ retail outlet stores, the pricing scheme is prominently displayed, advertising 23 deep discounts, including “SALE 40% off” various items throughout the store.

24 4. The purported “market prices” never existed and/or did not constitute the 25 prevailing market retail prices for such products within the three months immediately 26 preceding the publication of the sales tag. The difference between the “sale” and “regular” 27 prices is a false savings percentage used to lure consumers into purchasing products they 28 believe are significantly discounted.

1 5. Through their false and misleading marketing, advertising and pricing scheme, 2 Defendants violated, and continue to violate California law prohibiting advertising goods 3 for sale as discounted from former prices which are false, and prohibiting misleading 4 statements about the existence and amount of price reductions. Specifically, Defendants 5 violated, and continue to violate, California's Business & Professions Code §§ 17200, et 6 seq. (the "UCL"), California's Business & Professions Code §§ 17500, et seq. (the "FAL"), 7 the California Consumers' Legal Remedies Act, California Civil Code §§ 1750, et seq. (the 8 "CLRA"), and the Federal Trade Commission Act ("FTCA"), which prohibits "unfair or 9 deceptive acts or practices in or affecting commerce" (15 U.S.C. § 45(a)(1)) and false 10 advertisements. 15 U.S.C. § 52(a).

11 6. Plaintiff brings this action on behalf of herself and all other similarly situated 12 consumers who have purchased from Defendants' retail outlet stores, one or more items of 13 clothing and fashion apparel that was or were deceptively represented as discounted from 14 false former prices. Plaintiff brings this action in order to halt the dissemination of this 15 false, misleading, and deceptive price scheme; correct the false and misleading perception 16 it has created in the minds of consumers; and to obtain redress for those who have purchased 17 these products. Plaintiff seeks restitution and other equitable remedies, including an 18 injunction under the UCL and FAL; and restitution, damages, and an injunction under the 19 CLRA.

20 II. JURISDICTION AND VENUE
21

22 7. This Court has original jurisdiction of this Action pursuant to the Class Action 23 Fairness Act, 28 U.S.C §1332 (d)(2). The matter in controversy, exclusive of interest and 24 costs, exceeds the sum or value of $5,000,000 and at least some members of the proposed 25 Class have a different citizenship from Defendants.

26 8. The Southern District of California has personal jurisdiction over the 27 Defendants named in this action because Defendants are corporations or other business 28 entities authorized to conduct and do conduct business in the State of California.

1 Defendants also are registered with the California Secretary of State to do sufficient 2 business with sufficient minimum contacts in California. Defendants intentionally avail 3 themselves of the California market through the ownership and operation of numerous 4 Ralph Lauren outlet and retail stores within the State of California.

5 9. Venue is proper under 18 U.S.C. §1965(a) because Defendants transact 6 substantial business in this District, and a substantial part of the events giving rise to 7 Plaintiff's claims arose in this District.

8 III. PARTIES

9 Plaintiff

10 10. COURTNEY DENNIS resides in San Diego, California. Plaintiff, in reliance 11 on Defendants' false and deceptive advertising, marketing and "discount" pricing schemes, 12 purchased a children's polo shirt for her daughter for $44.99 (with sales tax, $48.59) on or 13 around November 19, 2015, at a Ralph Lauren Polo Factory Store located in Carlsbad, 14 California. The shirt was advertised as having an original, or "market," price of $74.99.
15 That price was purportedly discounted and represented to Plaintiff as "40% off" according 16 to the price tag and related signage. However, this product was not offered for sale at $74.99
17 at Defendants' retail outlet store, nor was it offered at that price within the 90-day time 18 period immediately preceding Plaintiff's purchase. Therefore, Ms. Dennis was damaged 19 by her purchase of the product.

20 Defendant

21 11. Plaintiff is informed and believes, and upon such information and belief 22 alleges, Defendant Ralph Lauren Corporation is a Delaware corporation with its principal 23 executive offices in New York, New York.

24 12. Plaintiff is informed and believes, and upon such information and belief 25 alleges, Defendant Ralph Lauren Retail, Inc. is a Delaware corporation with its principal 26 executive offices in New York, New York.

27 13. Defendants operate Ralph Lauren and related outlet Ralph Lauren Polo

1 Factory stores as well as the ralphlauren.com website, and advertise, market, distribute, 2 and/or sell clothing and clothing accessories in California and throughout the United States.

3 14. Plaintiff does not know the true names or capacities of the persons or entities 4 sued herein as DOES 1-20, inclusive, and therefore sues such Defendants by such fictitious 5 names. Plaintiff is informed and believes, and upon such information and belief alleges, 6 that each of the DOE Defendants is in some manner legally responsible for the damages 7 suffered by Plaintiff and the Class members as alleged herein. Plaintiff will amend this 8 Complaint to set forth the true names and capacities of these Defendants when they have 9 been ascertained, along with appropriate charging allegations, as may be necessary.

10 IV. FACTUAL BACKGROUND
11

12 15. On or around November 19, 2015, Plaintiff went shopping at the Ralph Lauren 13 Polo Factory store in Carlsbad, California to purchase clothing and related apparel for 14 herself and her family. Upon examining a particular children's polo shirt, she observed 15 signs that declared "SALE" with the shirt was advertised at "40% off." Plaintiff observed 16 signage within the store and the price tag on the shirt which represented that the shirt was 17 "40% off." Believing that she was receiving a significant value by purchasing polo shirt 18 for $44.99 that had an original or "market" price of $74.99, she decided to purchase the 19 shirt and proceeded to the cash register where she did in fact purchase the shirt. The receipt 20 Plaintiff was then handed bolstered the impression of an alleged bargain, stating that the 21 item "Price" was "[\$]74.99," but due to the "Promo Price ([\$]30.00)" discount, the shirt 22 was $44.99.

23 16. Specifically, relying upon Defendants' misrepresentations and false and 24 deceptive advertising, Plaintiff purchased the shirt for $44.66 (with sales tax, $48.59). The 25 price tag indicated the original or "market" price of the shirt was "$74.99"; the shirts were 26 being offered at a discount, described as 40% off. These purported "market" prices and 27 corresponding price "discounts" and savings were false and misleading, as the prevailing 28 retail price for the shirt during the three months immediately prior to Plaintiff's purchase

1 was not the $74.99 “market” price advertised by Defendants.

2 17. Plaintiff’s counsel tracked the pricing on various consumer goods at various 3 retail stores, including Polo outlet store for several months preceding and subsequent to Ms.
4 Dennis’ purchase. Plaintiff’s counsel’s investigation revealed that the “market” price 5 ($74.99) of the girl’s Polo shirt Ms. Dennis purchased was never the prevailing market price 6 at the Polo outlet store within the 90 days preceding Ms. Dennis’ purchase, nor was the shirt
7 offered for sale at the “market” price at any time during the investigation at the Polo outlet 8 store. Instead, Defendant continuously offered the shirt at discounted prices, including at 9 $44.99; “40% off,” the price on the product’s price tag. Plaintiffs’ counsel’s investigation 10 also revealed that this was a pervasive practice at the Polo Outlet stores. At least several 11 other items remained continuously discounted from their “market price,” or they were not 12 offered for sale at their market price for any substantial period of time, including, both 13 men’s and women’s Polo shirts and men’s tee shirts. The Polo outlet store engages in a 14 systematic scheme to continuously discount its merchandise without ever offering the 15 merchandise for sale at its “market” prices at the outlet store.

16 18. Plaintiff’s counsel’s investigation revealed that new Polo products and 17 seasonal merchandise are primarily available only at the Polo retail store, high-end 18 department stores and related online stores. The merchandise sold at the Polo outlet stores 19 is primarily out-of-season, made for distribution through the Polo outlet store or includes 20 their lesser-quality lines of product. Plaintiff’s investigation revealed that the Polo shirt 21 purchased by Plaintiff was not offered at its full retail price within the 90 days prior to her 22 purchasing it within the relevant market.

23 19. Plaintiff would not have purchased the shirt without the misrepresentations 24 made by Defendants. As a result, Plaintiff has been personally victimized by and suffered 25 economic injury as a direct result of Defendants’ unlawful, unfair and fraudulent conduct.

26 20. Defendants know that their comparative price advertising is false, deceptive, 27 misleading and unlawful under California law.

28 21. Defendants fraudulently concealed from and intentionally failed to disclose to

1 Plaintiff and other members of the proposed class the truth about its advertised price and 2 former prices.

3 22. At all relevant times, Defendants have been under a duty to Plaintiff and the 4 proposed class to disclose the truth about their false discounts.

5 23. Plaintiff relied upon Defendants' artificially inflated "market" price and false 6 discounts when purchasing the polo shirt at Defendants' Polo Factory store. Plaintiff would 7 not have made such purchases but for Defendants' representation of the fabricated original 8 "market" prices and false discounts.

9 24. Plaintiff and the Class reasonably and justifiably acted and relied on the 10 substantial price differences that Defendants advertised, and made purchases believing that 11 they were receiving a substantial discount on an item of greater value than it actually was.
12 Plaintiff, like other class members, was lured in, relied on, and damaged by these pricing 13 schemes that Defendants carried out.

14 25. Defendants intentionally concealed and failed to disclose material facts 15 regarding the truth about false former price advertising in order to provoke Plaintiff and the 16 proposed class to purchase Ralph Lauren branded products in its Polo Factory store and/or 17 retail outlet stores and/or on its Internet website.

18 V. CLASS ALLEGATIONS
19

20 26. Plaintiff brings this action on behalf of herself and all other similarly situated 21 Class members pursuant to Rule 23(a), (b)(2) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil 22 Procedure and seeks certification of the following Class against (the "Nationwide Class") 23 against Defendants:

24 27. All persons who purchased one or more items from Defendants offered at a 25 purported discount from an "original," "regular," or "market" price any time between [insert 26 date] to the date of certification (the "Class Period").

27 28. Plaintiff also brings this action individually and as a Class action pursuant to 28 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23 on behalf of all persons located within the state of 1 California (the "California Class"):

2 29. All persons residing in the State of California who purchased one or more 3 items from Defendant offered at a purported discount from an "original" or "regular" price 4 any time between [insert date] to the date of certification.

5 30. Plaintiff also brings this action on behalf of all persons located within states 6 with similar consumer protection laws (collectively with the Nationwide and California 7 Classes, the "Classes").

8 31. Excluded from the Class are Defendants and their past and present officers, 9 directors, employees, agents, and affiliates; Class counsel and their employees; and any 10 judge who presides over this action as well as his/her staff. Plaintiff reserves the right to 11 expand, limit, modify, or amend this class definition, including the addition of one or more 12 subclasses, in connection with her motion for class certification, or at any other time, based 13 upon, inter alia, changing circumstances and/or new facts obtained during discovery.

14 32. Numerosity: The class members are so numerous that joinder of all members 15 is impracticable. Plaintiff is informed and believes that the proposed Class contain 16 thousands of individuals who have been damaged by Defendants' conduct as alleged herein.
17 The precise number of Class members is unknown to Plaintiff.

18 33. Existence and Predominance of Common Questions of Law and Fact: This 19 action involves common questions of law and fact, which predominate over any questions 20 affecting individual Class members. These common legal and factual questions include, 21 but are not limited to, the following:

22 a. Whether, during the Class Period, Defendants used false "market" or 23 "original" price labels and falsely advertised price discounts on their 24 Ralph Lauren branded products they sold in their Polo Factory store
25 and/or retail outlet stores;

26 b. Whether, during the Class Period, the "original" or "market" prices 27 advertised by Defendants were the prevailing market prices for the 28 respective Ralph Lauren branded products during the three month

1 period preceding the dissemination and/or publication of the advertised 2 former prices;

3 c. Whether Defendants' alleged conduct constitutes violations of the laws 4 asserted;

5 d. Whether Defendants engaged in unfair, unlawful and/or fraudulent 6 business practices under the laws asserted;

7 e. Whether Defendants engaged in false or misleading advertising;

8 f. Whether Plaintiff and Class members are entitled to damages and/or 9 restitution and the proper measure of that loss; and 10 g. Whether an injunction is necessary to prevent Defendants from 11 continuing to use false, misleading or illegal price comparison.

12 34. Typicality: Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the members of the 13 Class because, inter alia, all Class members have been deceived (or were likely to be 14 deceived) by Defendants' false and deceptive price advertising scheme, as alleged herein.
15 Plaintiff is advancing the same claims and legal theories on behalf of herself and all 16 members of the class.

17 35. Adequacy: Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the 18 members of the Class. Plaintiff has retained counsel experienced in complex consumer 19 class action litigation, and Plaintiff intends to prosecute this action vigorously. Plaintiff has 20 no antagonistic or adverse interest to those of the Class.

21 36. Superiority: The nature of this action and the nature of laws available to 22 Plaintiff and the Class make the use of the class action format a particularly efficient and 23 appropriate procedure to afford relief to her and the class for the wrongs alleged. The 24 damages or other financial detriment suffered by individual Class members is relatively 25 modest compared to the burden and expense that would be entailed by individual litigation 26 of their claims against Defendants. It would thus be virtually impossible for Plaintiff and 27 Class members, on an individual basis, to obtain effective redress for the wrongs done to 28 them. Absent the class action, Class members and the general public would not likely 1 recover, or would not likely have the chance to recover, damages or restitution, and 2 Defendants will be permitted to retain the proceeds of its fraudulent and deceptive 3 misdeeds.

4 37. All Class members, including Plaintiff, were exposed to one or more of 5 Defendants' misrepresentations or omissions of material fact claiming that former original 6 or "market" advertised prices were in existence. Due to the scope and extent of Defendants' 7 consistent false "discount" price advertising scheme, disseminated in a years-long 8 campaign to California consumers via a number of different platforms – in-store displays, 9 print advertisements, etc. – it can be reasonably inferred that such misrepresentations or 10 omissions of material fact were uniformly made to all members of the Class. In addition, 11 it can be reasonably presumed that all Class members, including Plaintiff, affirmatively 12 acted in response to the representations contained in Defendants' false advertising scheme 13 when purchasing Ralph Lauren branded merchandise at Defendants' Polo Factory store 14 and/or retail outlet stores.

15 38. Defendants keep extensive computerized records of its customers through, 16 inter alia, customer loyalty programs and general marketing programs. Defendants have 17 one or more databases through which a significant majority of Class members may be 18 identified and ascertained, and they maintain contact information, including email and 19 home addresses, through which notice of this action could be disseminated in accordance 20 with due process requirements.

VI. CAUSES OF ACTION

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION
Violation Unfair Competition Law
Business and Professions Code § 17200 et seq.

39. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges the allegations contained in every preceding paragraph as if fully set forth herein.

40. The UCL defines unfair business competition to include any “unlawful, unfair

1 or fraudulent" act or practice, as well as any "unfair, deceptive, untrue or misleading" 2 advertising. Cal. Bus. Prof. Code § 17200.

3 41. The UCL imposes strict liability. Plaintiff need not prove that Defendants 4 intentionally or negligently engaged in unlawful, unfair, or fraudulent business practices – 5 but only that such practices occurred.

6 42. A business act or practice is "unfair" under the UCL if it offends an established 7 public policy or is immoral, unethical, oppressive, unscrupulous or substantially injurious 8 to consumers, and that unfairness is determined by weighing the reasons, justifications and 9 motives of the practice against the gravity of the harm to the alleged victims.

10 43. Defendants' actions constitute "unfair" business acts or practices because, as 11 alleged above, Defendants engaged in misleading and deceptive price comparison 12 advertising that represented false original or "market" prices and "discount" prices that were 13 nothing more than fabricated market prices leading to phantom markdowns. Defendants' 14 acts and practices offended an established public policy, and engaged in immoral, unethical, 15 oppressive, and unscrupulous activities that are substantially injurious to consumers.

16 44. The harm to Plaintiff and Class members outweighs the utility of Defendants' 17 practices. There are and were reasonably available alternatives to further Defendants' 18 legitimate business interests, other than the misleading and deceptive conduct described 19 herein.

20 45. A business act or practice is "fraudulent" under the UCL if it is likely to 21 deceive members of the consuming public.

22 46. A business act or practice is "unlawful" under the UCL if it violates any other 23 law or regulation.

24 47. Defendants' acts and practices alleged above have deceived Plaintiff and are 25 highly likely to deceive members of the consuming public. Plaintiff relied on Defendants' 26 fraudulent and deceptive representations regarding its "market" prices for Ralph Lauren 27 branded products that Defendants sell at their Polo Factory store and/or other retail outlet 28 stores. These misrepresentations played a substantial role in Plaintiff's decision to purchase

1 merchandise at a steep discount, and Plaintiff would not have purchased such merchandise 2 without Defendants' misrepresentations.

3 48. The FTCA prohibits "unfair or deceptive acts or practices in or affecting 4 commerce" (15 U.S.C. § 45(a)(1)) and prohibits the dissemination of any false 5 advertisements. 15 U.S.C. § 52(a). Under the FTC, false former pricing schemes, similar 6 to the ones implemented by Defendants, are described as deceptive practices that would 7 violate the FTCA:

8 (a) One of the most commonly used forms of bargain advertising is to offer a 9 reduction from the advertiser's own former price for an article. If the former 10 price is the actual, bona fide price at which the article was offered to the public 11 on a regular basis for a reasonably substantial period of time, it provides a 12 legitimate basis for the advertising of a price comparison. Where the former 13 price is genuine, the bargain being advertised is a true one. If, on the other 14 hand, the former price being advertised is not bona fide but fictitious – for 15 example, where an artificial, inflated price was established for the purpose of 16 enabling the subsequent offer of a large reduction – the "bargain" being 17 advertised is a false one; the purchaser is not receiving the unusual value he 18 expects. In such a case, the "reduced" price is, in reality, probably just the 19 seller's regular price.

20 (b) A former price is not necessarily fictitious merely because no sales at the 21 advertised price were made. The advertiser should be especially careful, 22 however, in such a case, that the price is one at which the product was openly 23 and actively offered for sale, for a reasonably substantial period of time, in the 24 recent, regular course of her business, honestly and in good faith – and, of 25 course, not for the purpose of establishing a fictitious higher price on which a 26 deceptive comparison might be based.

27 16 C.F.R. § 233.1.

28 49. California law also expressly prohibits false former pricing schemes. Cal. Bus.

1 & Prof. Code §17501, entitled “Value determinations; Former price advertisement,” states:

2 For the purpose of this article the worth or value of any thing advertised is the 3 prevailing market price, wholesale if the offer is at wholesale, retail if the offer 4 is at retail, at the time of publication of such advertisement in the locality 5 wherein the advertisement is published.

6 No price shall be advertised as a former price of any advertised thing, 7 unless the alleged former price was the prevailing market price as above 8 defined within three months next immediately preceding the publication 9 of the advertisement or unless the date when the alleged former price did 10 prevail is clearly, exactly and conspicuously stated in the advertisement.

11 [Emphasis added.]

12 50. As detailed in Plaintiff’s Third Cause of Action below, Cal. Civ. Code § 13 1770(a)(9), prohibits a business from “[a]dvertising goods or services with intent not to sell 14 them as advertised,” and subsection (a)(13) prohibits a business from “[m]aking false or 15 misleading statements of fact concerning reasons for, existence of, or amounts of price 16 reductions.”

17 51. Defendants’ practices, as set forth above, have misled Plaintiff, the proposed 18 class, and the general public in the past and will continue to mislead in the future.
19 Consequently, Defendants’ practices constitute an unlawful and unfair business practice 20 within the meaning of the UCL.

21 52. Defendants’ violation of the UCL through its unlawful, unfair and fraudulent 22 business practices are ongoing and present a continuing threat that members of the public 23 will be deceived into purchasing products based on price comparisons of arbitrary and 24 inflated original or “market” prices to “sale” prices that created merely phantom markdowns 25 and led to financial damage for consumers, like Plaintiff and the proposed Class.

26 53. Pursuant to the UCL, Plaintiff is entitled to preliminary and permanent 27 injunctive relief ordering Defendants to cease this unfair competition, as well as 28 disgorgement and restitution to Plaintiff and the Class of all of Defendants’ revenues

1 associated with its unfair competition, or such portion of those revenues as the Court may 2 find equitable.

3 SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION

4 Violation of the California False Advertising Law, California Business & Professions Code § 17500, *et seq.

5 54. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges the allegations contained in every preceding 6 paragraph as if fully set forth herein.

7 55. Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17500 provides that “[i]t is unlawful for 8 any...corporation...with intent...to dispose of...personal property...to induce the public to 9 enter into any obligation relating thereto, to make or disseminate or cause to be made or 10 disseminated...from this state before the public in any state, in any newspaper or other 11 publication, or any advertising device, or by public outcry or proclamation, or in any other 12 manner or means whatever, including over the Internet, any statement...which is untrue or 13 misleading, and which is known, or which by the exercise of reasonable care should be 14 known, to be untrue or misleading....” [Emphasis added].

15 56. The “intent” required by Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17500 is the intent to dispose 16 of property, and not the intent to mislead the public in the disposition of such property.

17 57. Similarly, this section provides, “no price shall be advertised as a former price 18 of any advertised thing, unless the alleged former prices was the prevailing market 19 price...within three months next immediately preceding the publication of the 20 advertisement or unless the date when the alleged former price did prevail is clearly, 21 exactly, and conspicuously stated in the advertisement.” Cal Bus. & Prof. Code § 17501.

22 58. Defendants’ routine of advertising discounted prices from false “market” 23 prices associated with its Ralph Lauren Polo Factory store and other retail outlet products 24 which were not the true prevailing “market” prices of those products and were materially 25 greater than the true prevailing prices was an unfair, untrue and misleading practice. This 26 deceptive marketing practice gave consumers the false impression that the products were 27 regularly sold on the market for a substantially higher price than they actually were, 28 therefore leading to the false impression that the Ralph Lauren branded products were worth

1 more than they actually were.

2 59. Defendants misled consumers by making untrue and misleading statements 3 and failing to disclose what is required as stated in the Code, as alleged above.

4 60. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' misleading and false 5 advertisements Plaintiff and Class members have suffered injury in fact and have lost 6 money. As such, Plaintiff requests that this Court Order Defendants to restore this money 7 to Plaintiff and all Class members, and to enjoin Defendants from continuing these unfair 8 practices in the future. Otherwise, Plaintiff, Class members and the broader general public 9 will be irreparably harmed and/or denied an effective and complete remedy.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION

Violation of the Consumers Legal Remedies Act (“CLRA”), California Civil Code § 1750, et seq.

2 61. Plaintiff repeats and re-alleges the allegations contained in every preceding 3 paragraph as if fully set forth herein.

4 62. This cause of action is brought pursuant to the Consumers Legal Remedies Act 5 (CLRA), California Civil Code § 1750, et seq. and similar laws in other states. Plaintiff 6 and each member of the proposed class are “consumers” as defined by California Civil 7 Code § 1761(d). Defendants’ sale of Ralph Lauren branded products at its Polo Factory 8 store and/or other retail outlet stores to Plaintiff and the Class were “transactions” within 9 the meaning of California Civil Code § 1761(e). The products purchased by Plaintiff and 10 the Class are “goods” within the meaning of California Civil Code § 1761(a).

1 63. Defendants violated and continues to violate the CLRA by engaging in the 2 following practices proscribed by California Civil Code § 1770(a) in transactions with
